Ralco Nutrition Welcomes Internship Recipients Amanda Folkens and Dan Compart

Amanda Folkens, South Dakota State University

Amanda is currently pursuing a degree in Animal Science at South Dakota State University and will be a senior in the fall. While Amanda's professional interests are in swine production and science, she also enjoys all types of sports, running and riding her horses. Amanda is from Rock Rapids, Iowa.

Dan Compart, University of Minnesota

Dan will be a senior at the University of Minnesota majoring in Animal Science. Dan's interests are in swine business and computers. Dan also enjoys hunting, fishing, 4-wheeling and other outdoor activities. Dan is from Nicollet, MN.

Congratulations Amanda and Dan on being recipients of the Ralco Nutrition 2009 Internships, we are excited to have you as part of the team this summer.

Both Amanda and Dan will be attending the World Pork Expo next week and are looking forward to meeting the rest of the team.
